NUMBER 5

► ► Dr. A. D. Mead: "Brown Was Fortunate"

BY J. WALTER WILSON '18

► ► ALBERT DAVIS MEAD, Professor of Biology Emeritus in Brown University, died at the home of his sister in Pasadena, California, on December 8, 1946. In his forty-one years of service at Brown, 1895-1925 in the department of Biology and 1925-1936 as Vice President, he played an important part in the development of the University and in determining its policies.

He was born in Swanton, Vermont, on April 15, 1869. His father was a teacher of Greek and Latin. He received the degree of A.B. at Middlebury College in 1890. With very little scientific background he went to Woods Hole the following summer where an energetic group of young men had organized the Marine Biological Laboratory. Here he came under the influence of Hermon C. Bumpus and returned to Brown with him in the fall. In 1891 he received the degree of A.M. From Brown he went to Clark, then a thriving young university with a distinguished faculty, where he worked with C. O. Whitman. When Whitman went to Chicago in 1893 his students, among them Mead, went with him. Summers were spent at the laboratory at Woods Hole. He received the Ph.D. degree at Chicago in 1895 and returned to Brown as Instructor in Comparative Anatomy. In 1896 he was made Associate Professor of Embryology and Neurology and in 1900 Professor of Comparative Anatomy. His title was changed to Professor of Biology in 1908.

A Service in His Memory ◀

► A MEMORIAL SERVICE in tribute to the late Dr. A. D. Mead, Vice-President of Brown University who died Dec. 8, 1946, will be held in Sayles Hall on the Brown campus Friday afternoon, Feb. 21, at 4 p.m. Among those expected to attend are members of the Advisory Council of the Associated Alumni who will be meeting that evening and the next day, thus representing Brown Clubs and alumni leaders from various parts of the country.

One of the speakers will be Dr. James P. Adams, Provost of the University of Michigan, Dr. Mead's colleague at Brown for many years and one of his closest personal friends. Others on the program are William H. Edwards '19, Secretary of the Rhode Island School of Design, of which Dr. Mead was a Trustee and member of the Executive Committee; and Louis C. Gerry, President of the Rhode Island Hospital, in which office Dr. Mead was a predecessor.

Chancellor Henry D. Sharpe '94 will preside over the exercises, which Chaplain Arthur L. Washburn is arranging. Rev. Robert H. Schacht, minister of the First Congregational Church in Providence, will offer prayer, while Dr. Washburn will give the benediction. Prof. J. Walter Wilson '18 will be in charge of ushers. ◀

He received an Honorary Sc.D. degree from Pittsburgh in 1912, from Middlebury in 1916, and from Rhode Island State College in 1927; and an Honorary LL.D. from Brown in 1939. He was a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a member of the American Society of Zoologists and of the American Society of Naturalists which he served as Secretary in 1900 and 1901.

► HIS ORIGINAL CONTRIBUTIONS to the advancement of science were not many but they were substantial and have proven to be of permanent significance. His principal research was on the development of the lower forms of marine animals; worms, the clam and the lobster. The work on the worms was of purely theoretical interest while that on the clam and the lobster was of practical importance. In his studies on the marine worms he traced their development cell by cell from the first cleavage of the egg to the laying down of the organ systems. This was a sort of work that was very much in fashion at the time. It required prolonged and painstaking observation. The result, contributed to by most of the working biologists of the period, was the enormous body of knowledge of details of early development that was a necessary background for the brilliant work in experimental embryology that was to follow and is still in progress. Dr. Mead's contribution was an early and highly important one.

When Cytology as a field of research was still in its teens, and the behavior of the centrosomes and chromosomes in cell division and in fertilization was still a subject of investigation, he made important studies on the behavior of the centrosomes in the annelid egg which have given him a permanent place in the literature of cytology. The contribution which he himself considered most important was his pioneer work on the activation of the egg of the marine worm Chaetopterus. This excursion into experimental cytology at a time when this field was almost untilled electrified the group with whom he was working at Woods Hole, and led directly to the discovery of methods of artificial parthenogenesis. This was one of the most conspicuous achievements of experimental biology at the turn of the century and encouraged a wide-spread interest in the use of the experimental method in the study of the problems of the cell.

This work was done for the most part at Woods Hole. At Brown, under the auspices of the Rhode Island Inland Fisheries Commission, he undertook the study of many problems in the biology of Narragansett Bay. These were largely practical problems in connection with the commercial exploitation of the fisheries. He studied particularly the development of the starfish, the clam and the lobster,—the starfish as an enemy of shellfish. His most important work in this field was the development of a method of rearing young lobsters in enormous numbers through the first and most precarious phase of their existence. The commercial value of this is very great and the method he developed has come into general use. He was awarded a prize for it at the Fourth International Fisheries Congress which met in Washington in 1908.

▶ THESE, HIS PRINCIPAL CONTRIBUTIONS to biology, he completed before his fortieth year, and from that time on his duties became progressively more administrative. He had become chairman of the department of Comparative Anatomy when Dr. Bumpus resigned in 1901 to go to the American Museum. After Professor Packard died in 1905 he became chairman of the reorganized and enlarged department of Biology. He played an important role in organizing the University for its part in the first world war and in the reorganization of its curriculum immediately after it. He became vice president in 1925 under President Faunce and served throughout the Presidency of Dr. Barbour. His part in building the enlarged Brown during the optimistic years of the 1920's was a notable one. Through his efforts many distinguished scholars were brought to Brown to enrich and enlarge its faculty. During the discouraging years of the depression with unfailing optimism he sustained the morale of the faculty in a way that is remembered with gratitude by many of us on the campus. He served as a trustee and member of the Executive Committee of the Rhode Island School of Design; and as trustee and President of the Rhode Island Hospital. Both of these great institutions bear the mark of his personality and of his competence. He also served as a trustee of Wellesley College and of Middlebury College, his alma mater. His interest in Middlebury he retained actively until his death.

▶ HE WAS A GREAT TEACHER. Students from all departments came to his courses for instruction and inspiration. He had a remarkable facility for expressing himself not only in words but in drawings on the blackboard and above all in modelling clay—affectionately known in our laboratory as "Mead's mud." As he lectured on the development of the brain or of the human face he would with great skill develop these structures before us in plasticine. Ideas of development were thus presented in their original simplicity which seem to acquire a veil of obscurity as they are expressed in language. His students have carried this teaching method far and wide.

In the more intimate life of the graduate student group his was an untiring influence. He came to know all of the students well and with unerring judgment appraised their capacities and limitations. Their personal as well as their scientific problems were brought to him. Many who have gone on to conspicuous success in medicine or in biological fields acknowledge a debt to his understanding and encouragement. Those of us who remained close to him continued to profit by his presence. It was a source of justifiable pride and satisfaction to him that a monumental work on endocrinology, edited by one of his former students Dr. Edgar Allen and contributed to by twenty-seven of the foremost investigators in the field, was dedicated to him.

His life was a full and satisfying one. With a keenly aesthetic nature he had surrounded himself with beautiful things. He was sufficiently competent at wood carving and at the violin to derive great pleasure from both. His scientific work itself was a source of aesthetic satisfaction to him, as the beautiful illustrations of his papers, drawn by his own hand, amply testify. A well-prepared microscopic preparation was a joy to him—a work of art. His appreciation of fine things was contagious and greatly enriched the lives of all who came under his influence.

He had a great capacity for friendship. His genial sense of humor and ever ready sympathy made him a delightful companion, and his keen insight into human problems made him a helpful and valued friend. At scientific meetings it was pleasant to have people who had not seen him for years ask affectionately about him. Much of his success, particularly with young people, was due to his essential friendliness.

As an administrator he was an important unifying influence. Modest in his own ambitions he appreciated and fostered those of others. He gladly worked for their achievement and with whole-hearted generosity took great joy in every success.

Someone has said that great institutions are no more than the shadows of the great men that have built them. Brown University is fortunate indeed to have had the lifetime services of such a man as Dr. Mead

Commencement: a Trial Balloon

▶ ▶ SHALL REUNIONS at Commencement time be held on the Brown campus instead of miles away at summer hotel, shore resort, or country club? For years, alumni have argued about the reunion scheme of things at Brown, with many a grad disappointed that he was not on College Hill for more of the time. It has remained an academic question, unanswered, for few important anniversaries have been observed in any but the customary fashion.

This year the campus reunion may get a real try. The 25-year class of 1922 seems disposed to seek quarters in a dormitory and focus most of its activities under the elms. It will take the lead, apparently, if enough other classes seem similarly inclined. The 35-year class of 1912 is definitely interested; the 50-year class of 1897 found 1896 so well pleased with its campus reunion last year that it probably will follow suit; the five-year group of 1942 is open to conviction. On the other hand, 1917, which was cheated out of its graduation by one war and its 25th reunion by another, has pretty explicit commitments for Cape Cod, and 1937 has its option on Wickford. The topic was the subject of lively discussion at the January meeting of the Association of Class Secretaries, with no conclusion reached beyond the appointment of an exploratory committee by Chairman Charles P. Sisson '11. In the Executive Committee of the Associated Alumni further conversations are afoot. From the point of view of the University, a cordial policy of making all possible facilities available has been reported.

Commencement will come on Monday, June 16, with the bacalaureate service the day before. Suggestions as to program on the preceding Friday and Saturday, however, lend encouragement to the proponents of the campus reunion, for the committee was talking in January of an all-Brown dinner Friday night or Sunday, taking its cue from last year's fine response for the "reunion of reunions" which ushered in the Commencement period. A poll of the classes last year was overwhelmingly in favor of continuing this custom.

An innovation with many pleasant possibilities appears in talk of holding an all-alumni clambake late Saturday afternoon on Aldrich Field. A costume parade, in the old manner, and a program of sports would be a gay and informal prelude, all probably on a family basis. Saturday morning and Sunday would be left to the individual classes for golf, country club meals, and class meetings.

All is still speculation, but the Alumni Office would welcome comment and suggestions. ◀

► ► Slowly, Steadily, Toward the Goal

BULLETIN: On Jan. 29, as the forms closed for this issue, headquarters of the Housing and Development Campaign announced that Fund had moved forward to a total of $2,125,000.

► ► INTERMEDIATE OBJECTIVES are often good military tactics, says Col. G. Edward Buxton '02, national chairman of the Brown University Housing and Development Campaign for $4,000,000. The present intermediate objective of that campaign is to reach two-thirds of its final goal by March 1, or earlier, he told his army of workers. "Then," he said, "we will draw a good breath and drive for the last white line."

The campaign level was at $2,070,000 on Jan. 15, an advance of $263,000 during the month which saw the half-way mark reached. When the figure reaches $2,250,000, a second quarter-million dollars is expected from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., '97. This promise has proved a great incentive, and the Jan. 14 Bulletin from campaign headquarters remarked, "Every contribution which makes up the next $180,000 will be more than twice its face value to Brown. We receive Mr. Rockefeller's second contribution when we have raised two million without the aid of his initial gift."

At least a third of the general alumni list had yet to be covered, it appeared. In Rhode Island the appeal to the community was gathering momentum, and names of corporations and individual friends of the University were being added steadily.

► AN INCREASING NUMBER of the larger contributions bore memorial designations. "An opportunity to bind the name of an individual or family for years to come with the heritage of Brown," Col. Buxton calls it. Among the new reservations are: Arthur M. Allen '97 has reserved a student's room in Beta Theta Pi quarters. Claude R. Branch '07 has reserved a students' double room in Alpha Delta Phi. Benjamin Brier, Charles Brier and Burleigh B. Greenberg have reserved a student's room in Pi Lambda Phi. Forrest E. Dean has established a memorial to Calvin and Eliza Dean, which will be a student's room in a Freshman unit.

The Psi Upsilon quarters in the new quadrangle area will include a memorial to Maj. William Lincoln Glatfelter II '40, who lost his life during the war on Jan. 7, 1945, in a plane crash. A single room is the memorial which the Glatfelter family has established. Arthur B. Homer '17 will provide the recreation room for Alpha Delta Phi. Three Brunonian brothers, all members of Theta Delta Chi, will be memorialized in a student's room in that fraternity reserved by their family. The men were Allen K. Krause '01, George F. Krause '06, and Maxwell Krause '10. The "Louttit family" has reserved the library in Theta Delta Chi. The "Sopkin family" will later select the location of a students' double room, for which reservation has been made.

Col. Buxton reiterates, in acknowledging the University's deep gratitude for these memorials, that plans for the quadrangles call for similar facilities in all fraternity houses, whether or not they are specifically provided by individual donors.

► THE CAMPAIGN OFFICE also provides this magazine with a new list of contributors who have made gifts of $500 or more, the total of such gifts being 423 on Jan. 14. Names of these donors will appear on a special plaque in the refectory. Some earlier gifts have been augmented to reach or exceed this minimum.

Contributors of $500 or more, not previously listed in the ALUMNI MONTHLY, include:

Call for Feb. 22 ◀

▶▶ THE CALL for the 1947 Advisory Council has been issued by President Moses L. Crossley '09, the date for this "senate" of the Associated Alumni having been set for Feb. 22. A substantial and promising program has been arranged by a committee under the R. I. Vice-President, H. Stanton Smith '21, with University and alumni leaders booked for talks on matters of current and future significance. Prescribed business includes nomination of candidates for the 1947 alumni ballot, and reports on a boom year in alumni activity.

In addition to the program for Washington's Birthday, the traditional date for the Council meeting, two events are planned for the previous day, Feb. 21: Most of the members of the Advisory Council will wish to attend the University's memorial service for Dr. A. D. Mead, in Sayles Hall at 4 o'clock. A dinner for the delegates to the Advisory Council is scheduled for the evening of the 21st, with members of the Brown Corporation, student leaders, and others also invited.

The Advisory Council consists of the following: the President of each Brown Club or his representative; an additional delegate from each Club with a membership of more than 50; the Officers of the Associated Alumni and the members of its Board of Directors; and Alumni Trustees. In addition, the Board of Directors and/or Executive Committee usually exercise their privilege under the by-laws to invite other alumni and University notables.

▶ THE PROGRAM, confined to a single day's sessions to accommodate the budget of busy Brunonians, is designed to further the Advisory Council's stipulated duty "to further the interests of the University and of the Alumni and former students . . . consult with the officers of the University and the members of the Associated Alumni . . . gather such information, make such recommendations, and take such action as shall best serve to discharge its primary purpose."

The program is crammed with interesting and important possibilities at a time when a particularly vital role is available for the alumni. The Council has unusual sources of information, freedom of discussion (since sessions are customarily "off the record") and considerable power.

Among University Officers who will speak of the University scene and its planning for tomorrow will be President Wriston, Vice-President Bigelow, Dr. Arnold in his first appearance before the alumni as Dean of the University; Dr. Kenny, Dean of Students; the Director of Undergraduate Activities, Nelson B. Jones; the Director of Admissions, Emery R. Walker; the new Director of Athletics, Paul F. Mackesey. The national chairman of the Housing and Development Fund will also tell the Council how that campaign is going—Col. G. Edward Buxton '02.

Among alumni leaders who will contribute to the formal program are: President Crossley; William B. McCormick '23, the Alumni Executive Officer; Carleton D. Morse '13, chairman of the Board of Editors of this magazine; and George T. Metcalf '13, chairman of the Alumni Fund Trustees, who will not only make his annual report but will present the trophy to the Class of the Year. Mr. McCormick will not only make his first report as secretary of the Alumni but will present the challenging proposal on alumni reorganization.

► Two Promotions

►► PROMOTION of two major Brown University officials was voted at the December of the Corporation's Advisory and Executive Committee, naming Dr. Samuel T. Arnold '13 as Dean of the University and Dr. Robert W. Kenny '25 as Dean of Students in the College. Dean Arnold, Dean of the College since 1937, will have academic duties encompassing the College, the Graduate School, Pembroke College, and the Veterans' College. Dr. Kenny has been Associate Dean of the College for the past year, since his return from military service.

Dean Arnold has been at Brown since his undergraduate days, taking graduate work leading to his Sc.M. in 1914 and his Ph.D. in 1916. As a fledgling member of the Faculty in 1913, he started as an assistant in the chemistry department, and advanced through various academic grades to chairman of the department in 1929. He became full professor and Dean of Undergraduate Men in 1930.

Dean Arnold, long active in campus and national educational affairs, is President of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Vice-President of the American Council on Education, and a member of the executive committee of the College Entrance Certification Board. He holds membership in Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, American Chemical Society, and the National Association of Deans of Men. During the war he played a vital part in atomic research by recruiting scientific personnel for the Manhattan Project. Just before the war he had national responsibilities as director of the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges.

With his change in title and responsibilities, he is now listed in the University's general administrative group, with President Wriston, Vice-President Bigelow, and Vice-President Cochran, business manager.

► DEAN KENNY also received both of his graduate degrees at Brown, taking his Ph.D. in 1934. He began teaching in the English Department at Brown in 1929 after instructing at Northeastern. A year as exchange professor at the American College of Sofia, Bulgaria, and service as an artillery officer from 1941 to 1946 interrupted his work at Brown. He was promoted to Associate Professor while on the Philippine front after taking part in campaigns in New Caledonia, Guadalcanal, New Georgia, and New Guinea. He went on to Japan and came home a Lt. Col. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Theta Pi, has written a number of articles in his field and in colonial history.

A new appointment to the administrative staff is that of Joseph K. Sonntag, English instructor, as Assistant Dean of Students. An alumnus of the University of Michigan (1939), he was formerly a master at Haverford School in Pennsylvania and a visiting lecturer at the University of Haiti. He is a candidate for his Master's degree at Harvard.

Vice-President of New England Tel

► RISING RAPIDLY in the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, Robert G. Bleakney '23 was elected vice-president at the October meeting of the Board of Directors. Director of personnel relations for a year, Mr. Bleakney had been, prior to that, Division Plant Superintendent in Springfield, Mass., Portland, Me., and the Metropolitan Boston area.

For Scholarships at Brown

► STUDENTS wishing to attend Brown, Bowdoin, or Colby from Beverly, Mass., high school in future will have the help of a $40,000 scholarship fund, under the terms of the will of Miss Susan A. Dodge of that town filed in November.

HOW SCHOOLS HAVE CHANGED: When William C. Hill '94, principal emeritus of Classical High School, Springfield, Mass., spoke at the 50th anniversary of Choate School, he addressed the topic of "Post War Changes in the Schools." He pointed out that his active connection with the schools had already ceased before V-J Day. However, he felt that so far our schools are little changed. He put the question to one of his friends, "What are the post war schools like?" The answer he received was: "Oh, just the 1942 model, with wooden bumpers."

Another proposal which will come before the Advisory Council would make Regional Vice-Presidents of the Associated Alumni the personal appointees of the President of the association. At present there are elected by the alumni in their respective Regions. (Article V, Section 2 of the Constitution of the Associated Alumni.) This change would require a constitutional amendment by two-thirds vote of the Advisory Council, following recommendation by the Executive Committee and Board of Directors.

One of the duties of the Advisory Council will be to nominate a slate for the annual Alumni Trustee voting, balloting in which nearly all alumni and alumnae will eventually participate. The Executive Committee, which acts as a nominating committee, has canvassed all the Brown Clubs for suggestions and done some preliminary screening. Candidates for Alumni President and Treasurer, to serve from July 1, 1947 to 1949, will also be chosen, together with candidates for a Vice-President and Director from each alumni Region. Candidates will also be named for an imminent vacancy on the Athletic Council.

The delegates will be the guests of the University at noon in Alumnae Hall. The day's program will start at 9 a.m. in the Faunce House Theatre Lounge and conclude with an "open house" for discussion and questions late in the afternoon.

GLEE CLUB DIRECTOR and (below) his men: Prof. Edward B. Greene, new to the Brown Faculty, has a fine corps of well-trained voices. A revival of the traditional Spring Tour is projected, and bookings are invited.

Voices on Tour ◀

▶▶ REVIVING a pre-war tradition of long standing, the Brown University Glee Club has announced its spring tour for April 7-12 and is completing bookings with the co-operation of alumni and other friends. With more than 50 trained voices, this year's club has developed into a well-balanced and capable group which has gained the thorough approval of all audiences. Long and frequent rehearsal, a combination of enthusiasm with exceptional talent have brought the organization to a degree of excellence which makes for success.

Typical of the Brown student body, the club has unusual maturity. Three-quarters of the men are veterans who have resumed their education after war service. Included are a half-dozen singers with professional experience. In the opinion of Prof. Arlan R. Coolidge, it is an outstanding club, carefully selected and thoroughly trained. "Its work has professional finish as well as popular appeal," he believes. The Yankee Network ranked it with "the best college glee clubs in the nation."

Prof. Edward B. Greene, new to the Brown Faculty, is its director. A Harvard graduate, he also studied music in Paris and Munich. He has been director of both the Princeton and Wellesley glee clubs, and last year was connected with the Berkshire Music Festival. A quartet and soloists supplement the glee club, which presents sacred music, Negro spirituals, popular ballads, college songs, and current favorites in a sound repertoire. Bookings are being handled by the club through the office of the Director of Student Activities at the University.

The Fraternities in 1947 ◀ ◀

▶▶ THE AVERAGE fraternity man among the Brown alumni is amazed when he learns of the size of his chapter today. Accustomed to the days when 40 was considered a large house and a delegation of eight or ten the rule, he has to adjust his thinking a little when he hears that membership in each fraternity today averages 70. This figure includes the new pledges of the first semester, 1946-1947.

Fraternity statistics reflect, of course, the size of the student body this year, but another considerable factor was the continuation of fraternity activity at Brown during the war. This fall men initiated into fraternities during the war period and continuing as undergraduates in peacetime were joined by returned service men, with the result that the chapters broke all records for membership. While the average chapter numbered 48 at the start of the college year in September, some houses exceeded that and one had a total of 70.

Viewing the size of the enrollment, the Interfraternity Governing Board planned carefully for the usual rushing period in the late fall. It instituted some openhouse evenings at the outset, inviting all Freshmen to visit any houses in which they were interested. The initiative in the early part of rushing thus rested with the Freshmen. A limit of 30 was set on the size of any delegation, a maximum of which only one chapter finally took advantage. When Freshmen examined their invitations under a centralized bidding system December 4, the delegations pledged averaged 20 for the 17 fraternities. About 40 other boys did not pick up bids at the time.

With the Freshman pledges and others added later, a total fraternity population of 1206 was estimated in January—roughly 46% of the student body at Brown. Chapter membership, including pledges, ranged from 42 to 92, with the median at 70.

For the guidance of Freshmen during rushing season, the Brown Herald published a schedule of initiation fees and annual dues as compiled and supplied by the Interfraternity Governing Board. Also given was the relative scholastic standing for the last semester of 1946. This information is printed in an accompanying table, together with statistics on membership.

▶ WITH FRATERNITY CONCURRENCE and the transfer of all fraternity properties to the University, the proposal as approved by the Advisory and Executive Committee of the Corporation on January 14, 1944, went into effect. Under it the University has assumed the management and housekeeping of the living quarters. It is operating fraternity dining rooms, maintaining kitchen and dining room equipment, supervising the purchase, preparation and service of food, and collecting the money for meals. It has made room assignments to individual chapter members in co-operation with the undergraduate chapter, collecting rentals for the same.

The agreement under which the chapter houses are being operated also states: "When the University invests its own funds to improve living conditions, it would expect a return of not over 4½% upon such investment, putting all balances into reserves for replacements, improvements, or for the reduction of the University's investment. (General interest rates having dropped, the University subsequently reduced this maximum from 4½% to 4.) Each chapter would occupy, under a rental agreement with the chapter or its alumni corporation, the lounge and chapter rooms, and at its option supply its own furniture for these rooms in order to express its own individuality . . ."

In addition to individual room contracts for the dormitory portion of each fraternity house, the University in December billed the chapters for the rental of lounges, recreation and chapter rooms. The computation was based on University estimates of costs for operating and maintaining the house, the proportion of those costs assigned to lounge and chapter rooms being the proportion of the area of those rooms to the total house area. If, for example, such rooms were 20% of the total house, 20% of the maintenance costs were assigned to them.

These costs will be divided among members of the chapter as it decides, possibly taking into consideration where the members live—in dormitories, in the chapter house, or off campus—somewhat reminiscent of the "parlor taxes" which many fraternities assessed before the war.

▶ IN CONSIDERATION of previous University use of the chapter houses for other purposes during the war, however, most fraternities received a credit which wiped out this charge for the current semester, at least. Houses which had not been conveyed had not been used, and of the others those were used which best filled the needs of the University at the time for dining, office, or residential purposes. A few fraternities, therefore, did not receive the semester credit, while some were used to such a full extent that this credit will be extended for another, or even a third semester.

Questions about the billing have been raised with the Director of Student Activities, Nelson B. Jones. He talked with undergraduate and alumni fraternity men to explain the formula universally applied. The alumni Fraternity Advisory Committee also studied the matter with Vice-President Morris Cochran when it met Jan. 16 and asked further study of some cost estimates.

In determining the charge for lounge and chapter room rentals, the University took into account the over-all budget for the operation of the building and equipment. Items included heat, light, water, maid and janitor service, telephone, insurance, ordinary repairs and maintenance, depreciation, watchman service, and general supervision but excluding any return on investment. Anticipated expense for cooking fuel and water, and electricity for kitchen motors was also excluded.

▶ NEXT THE DEPARTMENT of Buildings and Grounds measured the areas to be used and computed (a) the percentage of each building occupied by dining room and kitchen, (b) the percentage occupied as a dormitory, and (c) the percentage occupied by the group as a fraternity. Since every dormitory at the University now has a lounge, a corresponding amount of lounge space in the fraternity houses was allocated to (b). Since every dining room of the University has a coat room and small lounge or corridor space, the appropriate part of similar space in each fraternity was allocated to (a).

The third step was to apply the percentages (a), (b), and (c) to the budget. Percentage (c) applied to the total budget thereupon gave the amount of rental to be charged the chapter for the space used. Percentage (a) produced the charge allocated to dining room expense. Percentage (b) gave the amount of the total budget for dormitory operation.

In the event that University property is being used in lounge, recreation and chapter rooms, depreciation of 7½% is added as a charge to the rental of those rooms. If University property is being used as kitchen and dining room equipment, depreciation is charged to dining room operations. Where fraternity-owned kitchen, dining room, hallway, or dormitory furniture are being used, the 7½% depreciation is applied to reduce rental charge (c). (Depreciation is figured on replacement value.) All fraternities were allowed an additional credit of $45 (7½% of $600)

(or lounge furniture provided by them, as $600 is given as the average cost of furnishing the lounge room in a regular dormitory.

▶ ONCE THE NET RENTAL was computed in this way for the lounge, recreation and chapter room areas, a further allowance was made: To allow for error in developing a budget for the first year of operation, without a back-file of factual experience, a 50% discount was applied by University action to the net rental.

Moreover, the University announced that, in the event of any profit on the operation of lounge and chapter space—any balance of income over expense in the rental of this part of the house, the University would return this balance to the chapter or apply it as a credit for the next period. (Any loss would be assumed by the University.)

Any profit from the dining rooms (considered most unlikely under present food costs) and dormitory areas is dealt with on a somewhat different basis. As noted, any balance here which represents more than a 4% return on the investment of University funds, would go into reserves for replacements, improvements, or for the reduction of the University's investment.

Mr. Jones points out that the University charge for lounge, recreation and chapter rooms is not a "parlor tax" in the old use of the word. Instead, it is a rental charge provided for in the 1944 Proposal and recognizes the new relationship of the University as landlord and the chapters as tenants. Seen in this light, the billing became less confusing, and the step-by-step explanation of the method of computation served to improve their reception. Still, the Herald said "the amounts involved seemed staggering."

The Herald reporter said, "Both Dean Arnold and Vice-President Cochran stressed that these bills are estimates made by the University after careful study. If they prove to be too high even after the 50% reduction, the costs to the various chapters will be readjusted. If they prove to be too low, the University will stand the cost. Every effort was made to adopt an equitable method of computation." The reporter had talked with several fraternity presidents and found that "all felt the rates were far too high."

As for the alumni Advisory Committee, the Herald noted that all but three chapters were represented at the Jan. 16 meeting and received detailed cost figures. "These representatives seemed to appreciate the University's attitude, and left with the plan of reviewing the costs and discussing them with the members of their individual chapters."

First Garson, Then Lana

▶ ▶ DICK HART '36 got into the acting business by chance, and his luck is still holding good, writes Bradford F. Swan in the Providence Sunday Journal. Consequently he will make his screen debut opposite Greer Garson in MGM's "Sacred and Profane," and that performance was impressive enough to give him the male lead with Lana Turner in "Green Dolphin Street" even before the release of his first film.

MGM hadn't turned on publicity for Hart beforehand, and the studio acted as if it was planning a big "discovery build-up," Swan thought. Consequently the newspapers didn't pay too much attention to him even when he too was nearly swept away by the big wave which tossed Miss Garson into the Pacific during a scene on the rocks at Monterey.

Hart, son of former Alumni President Henry C. Hart '01 and brother of Henry C. Hart, Jr., '35, was on his way to Newport one summer looking for a newspaper job. But, on seeing some activity around a straw-hat circuit theatre at Tiverton, he stopped and got a job as juvenile. He'd had amateur experience, studied further in New York, then went to Cambridge for its Summer Theatre. Playing the Witch Boy in the original presentation of "Dark of the Moon," he received the role in the Broadway production and caught the eye of MGM talent scouts there. Now his brother "Mud" is also aiming at a dramatic career, taking schooling in New York in the same class with his bride, the daughter of the late John Gilbert and Leatrice Joy of the films.

A President-Elect

►► DESIGNATION of the President of the Associated Alumni a year before he would take office is provided for in a proposal being considered by the Executive Committee of the association. The President-elect would also become a member, ex-officio, of the Advisory Council, Board of Directors, and Executive Committee.

The purpose of the provision is to permit the President-elect to familiarize himself thoroughly with the policies and procedures in advance of his actual term of two years. He could thus piece out his background, and the organization would benefit by the easy transition from one administration to another without loss of time or effectiveness. The practice, common to many organizations, is known to be useful; the idea has the endorsement of several past Presidents and was proposed by the incumbent, Dr. Moses L. Crossley '09.

The By-Laws Committee, headed by Henry C. Hart '01, a former President, would have the President elected in the years which end in an even number, taking office in the following year. Otherwise the procedure would be the same as at present: nomination of candidates by the Advisory Council and election by general alumni ballot. A President will be elected this year, for a term from July 1 to June 30, 1949. The next President would be elected in 1948, to take office July 1, 1949. The necessary amendments may be considered at the imminent meeting of the Advisory Council, with final action to be taken at the annual meeting of the Associated Alumni at Commencement.

Salem Meeting Feb. 27

► VISITS from President Wriston and Dean Arnold are on the docket for the North Shore Brown Club, according to newspaper publicity in that Massachusetts area. Dean Arnold will talk before the alumni at the Hotel Hawthorne in Salem the night of Feb. 27, while the President will address the annual meeting May 15.

The year's activities began in October with Rev. Raymond Hall '31 as speaker. The former paratroop chaplain told of some of his war experiences and observations. President Elmer P. Wright had San Santry as special chairman for the night, with Dean Tupper of Endicott College as one of the hostesses. The club observed "sports night" Dec. 12.

Boston Greets McCormick

► WILLIAM B. MCCORMICK '23, Alumni Executive Officer, gave a lively account of alumni activities and the current campus story at the regular January luncheon of the Boston Brown Club at the Engineers' Club Jan. 16.

Among those present were: Howard C. Barker '99, Robert G. Bleakney '23, Secretary Edward T. Brackett '14, Alumni Trustee William P. Burnham '07, James M. Carmark '40, Kenneth D. Clapp '40, Albert B. Coop '16, Charles I. Gates '99, Mian Gulian '23, Richard E. Hale '41, Ernest G. Hapgood '01, William R. Hulbert '37, Roger P. Jenks '21, Irving W. Lovell '36, Loring P. Litchfield '28, Herbert L. Manchester '18, James E. Paige '18, Benjamin C. Pillsbury '00, Hugh Robertson '19, Harold A. Sweetland '09, Frank C. Thompson '01, and John McDevitt.

Plainfield Organizes

►► FEW BROWN CLUBS can match in activity one of the newest alumni groups, the Plainfield Area Section in New Jersey. Taking the cue from the new reorganization plan of Alumni President Moses L. Crossley '09, the unit chose its designation to show its close relationship with the Associated Alumni. It has held three meetings since its formation Oct. 10 at the Park Hotel in Plainfield.

Howard F. Parker '13 presided over the inaugural and those present participated in an interesting and constructive discussion as to how Brown alumni can maintain their close contacts with the University and be of assistance to it.

The meeting was arranged by Byron L. West '15, Carlton L. Dunham '21, Howard F. Parker '13 and Joseph K. Burwell '13. The following officers were elected: Edwin B. Havens '28, president; Joseph K. Burwell '13, secretary and E. Bruce Wetzel '29, treasurer. The president has appointed committees to arrange programs for future meetings and to contact schools in order to interest promising young men in Brown.

At present it is tentatively proposed to include in the newly organized section Plainfield, North Plainfield, Fanwood, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Metuchen, Somerville, New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Sterling, Martinsville, Gladstone, Millington, Whitehouse, Branchville and Neshanic.

It was decided to have four meetings a year at which speakers from the university, moving pictures of Brown activities and other features of interest will be the high lights.

Those attending the meeting were: S. M. Banfield '13, J. K. Burwell '13, A. E. Cameron '04, M. L. Crossley '09, M. L. Dolt '06, C. L. Dunham '21, E. B. Havens '28, W. E. Holland '33, A. L. Logan '42, H. W. Lord '20, C. C. Mulliken '28, H. F. Parker '13, L. L. Perry '17, H. P. Quick '87, H. W. Rasmussen '32, Harold Smith '30, A. D. Stout '99, W. A. Tucker '38, B. L. West '15 and E. B. Wetzel '29.

Alumni Executive Officer William B. McCormick '23 was the guest of the club at a fine meeting in December, bringing news of Brown and commenting on movies of the Holy Cross football game. Harold Lord told of the progress of the Housing and Development Campaign. J. K. B.

Hallborg Heads Engineers

►► HENRY E. HALLBORG '07 is the new President of the Brown Engineering Association, elected at a record-breaking annual meeting Dec. 5 at the Building Trades Employers Association in New York. His associates are: Vice-President—Zenas R. Bliss '18; Secretary-Treasurer—A. M. Impagliazzo '34.

President Wriston was the principal speaker of the evening, for which President Harvey N. Davis of Stevens Tech was toastmaster. Special guests were Eugene W. O'Brien '19, president-elect of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and Alton C. Chick '19, vice-president-elect of ASME. Prof. Bliss and James Lalikos '47 brought greetings from the Engineering Division at Brown, while Alumni Executive Officer William B. McCormick '23 had the pleasure of being with the Engineers for the first time.

It was the Association's 20th anniversary, but the 34th annual New York Dinner of the Brown Engineers.

A notable evening in a reminiscent mood was the fall meeting at the Hotel Midston, where Prof. A. E. Watson '88 was the featured guest. He had a delightful narrative of "Sixty Years of Brown Engineering." (This magazine is fortunate enough to have his manuscript and awaits an opportunity to publish it.)

Alumni Committeemen

► MUCH OF THE WORK of the Executive Committee of the Associated Alumni is carried on by faithful and competent committeemen. Among those currently constituted are the following:

Alumni Nominations—Henry C. Hart '01, chairman, Sidney Clifford '15, Ralph M. Palmer '10, Memento Committee—Nelson B. Jones '28, chairman, Fred Schwin '05, Frederick E. Schoeneweiss '20, S. Abbott Hutchinson '31, Indoc-trination Committee—Clinton C. White '00, chairman, H. Stanton Smith '21, Emery R. Walker, Jr., '39, Richard A. Hurley, Jr., '32, Cyrus G. Flanders '18, Finance and Program—H. Stanton Smith '21, chairman, E. John Lownes '23, Edward T. Brackett '14, George R. Decker '23, Mr. Schoeneweiss. Consultation with the Corporation—Dr. Moses L. Crossley '09, Carleton D. Morse '13, By-laws—Mr. Hart, chairman, Frederick H. Rohlf's '26, Edward T. Richards '27, Stanley Henshaw, Jr., '35, and Mr. Clifford. Commencement Week Activities—Mr. Lownes, chairman, Martin L. Tarpy '37, and W. C. Worthington '23.

The Executive Committee, elected by the Board of Directors, is composed of Dr. Crossley, chairman, W. Easton Louttit '25, Harvey S. Reynolds '23, Fred A. Otis '03, and Messrs. Schoeneweiss, Hart, Smith, Morse, and Brackett.

Revival in Worcester

► CREDIT David G. Fanning '25 and his aides with the new spirit in the Worcester Brown Club, once one of the most effective in the country-wide chain of alumni groups. Among those currently active are men who attended the last dinner of the club:

Austin L. Marsh '33, George M. Crowther '13, Lawrence J. Hadley '25, Channing S. Smith '26, George C. Whitney '33, Harold R. Moulton '19, David G. Fanning '25, V. T. Dimitroff '20, Harry M. Sutton '12, Howard B. Johnson '42, Herbert H. Pickard '33, Albert Farnsworth '10, Herbert R. Lindblom '16, Clarence W. Holmes '05, Earle W. Peckham '08, Sherman A. Allen '03, Kenneth H. Colvin '25,

George W. Cross '30, Joseph M. Edinburg '40, Clifford S. Anderson '00, Samuel J. Beeher '08, Louis E. Feingold '04, Ralph N. Brown '00, John R. Quick '28, William F. Branch '34, John R. Van Nest '29, Howard M. Hall '30, J. William McRriam '27, Leonard B. Thompson '26, Hyman J. Small '26, William I. Sadowsky '38, Clarence R. Day '23, John R. Gosnell '41, Cyril C. Smith '14, Cameron Guiler '26, Joseph J. Iannoli '32, Alfred B. Cenedella '40, John B. Lord '25.

Turnout in Hartford

▶ WHEN A CLUB is as active as the Hartford unit, it's hard to keep up with it. Even so, we're remiss in not having found room before to tell of the fine fall meeting which brought out a good crowd to hear Coach Rip Engle. Incidentally, the evening was productive of good Brown publicity, too.

The club's faithful secretary, C. G. Flanders '18, reported the following attendance: Bob Allison '29, Oscar Anderson '35, Malcolm Armstrong '40, Bob Barningham '43, Bill Bieluch '39, Allyn Brown '05, Reid Chatterton '30, Ben F. Crehore '28, Enrico Casinghino '39, Dick Eldridge '31, Art Fowler '30, Ray B. Gallant '15, Russell Gear '44, Milton H. Glover '22, Perry Graffam '38, Herbert Howard '28, Everett Harkness '05, Ernest Intlehouse '26, Andy Jack '38, Al Jarvis '38, Frank Jones '97, Ed Lancaster '43, Lou Leonard '36, Jim Jibby '34, Hal Liner '29, Art Lofquist '32, Joe Lombardo '43, Fred Lougee '21, Paul Monahan '31, John Mozochi '31, Abner Newton '23, John O. Nolan '36, Dave Slattery '36, Larry Smith '20, Don Tanner '35, Frank Taylor '44, Sam Thornton '30, Stewart Tinkham '23, Ed Tuller '35, Bob Whitcomb '25, Ken Wright '38, several sons and other sub-Freshmen.

The luncheon meetings continue popular. Vice-President Bruce M. Bigelow was a guest in the fall at one of them. Get in touch with Flanders (address on the back of this magazine) for time and place.

Cleveland Elects Curtis

▶ MYRON S. CURTIS '07, Warner & Swazey executive, was elected President of the Brown University Club of Cleveland at its December meeting in the University, when Chesley Worthington '23, manager-editor of this magazine, was its guest. It was a pleasant, informal evening with good talk and discussion around the board. They were still talking of the fine meeting the previous month when President Wriston addressed the group.

Harold R. Moorhouse '24 was elected vice-president and Harry L. Hoffman '25 secretary-treasurer. Both are former officers of the club, the latter returned from Army duty during which he played a large part in the training of 22,000 ski troops at Camp Hale. Retiring officers were Paul H. Keough '17, president, and Paul B. Edes '28, secretary, who as the nominating committee were instrumental in naming their successors.

A surprise visitor was Arthur F. Newell '12 of London, England, a guest of Dr. W. R. Burwell '15, Brown Trustee. Others present included: James D. Allan '18, Francis E. Young '03, who was congratulated on his recent election to the State legislature, Donald E. Ewing '32, A. E. Dillingham '18, Preston D. Mitchell '33, and Paul Boughton '23. Greetings were exchanged with the Bowdoin Club meeting in an adjoining room.

Turnout in Syracuse

▶ A SCORE of Syracusans turned out Nov. 12 for the fall meeting of their Brown Club at the Hotel Syracuse. Judge H. Duane Bruce '07 was toastmaster and shared with Secretary E. C. Drake '24 credit for the success of the dinner.

Rev. Ben Herr '82 gave a brief but whimsically inspiring talk on the spirit of Brown and the unflinching pleasure he took in the company of fellow Brunonians. Alumni Executive Officer William B. McCormick '23 represented the University with a word picture of the current scene at Brown. J. W. Gurl '38 described the organization and aims of the Housing and Development Campaign, leading a question and answer period, not only on that fund but on Brown affairs in general. Motion pictures of the Dartmouth game were shown.

Among the men present were: Raymond B. West '18, Harvey Sheahan '17, Robert J. Ames '18, H. B. Faucher '35, George R. Walworth '03, William Cornell Blanding '07, H. D. Marshall, Jr., '40, Harry G. Remington '27, Dean Dudley '02, Everett H. Wood '29, Harold C. Johns '35, A. Clark '42, and Allen D. Hill '20.

In the Connecticut Valley

▶ PRESIDENT WRISTON was given a rousing welcome to Springfield Dec. 16 when he was the speaker before the Connecticut Valley Brown Club. Alumni Executive Officer William M. McCormick '23 and Assistant Football Coach Gus Zitrides accompanied him and contributed to the program. Among the alumni present at the University Club were delegations from the Amherst Brown Club and other outlying areas:

Stuart G. Waite '32, George F. Affleck '41, Robert F. Wessman '39, Rodman Cart, Clyde B. Gordon '34, Edward W. Thomas '34, Jack McQuestan, Bud Johnson, Harold P. Worthington '11, Elijah Anthony '18, William A. Harris '97, Harold P. Brown '09, Richard H. Brown '42, Harold M. Sauer '34, Basil B. Wood '05, Elliot H. Bosworth '16, Clifton H. Hobson '04, Henry B. Thatcher '10, Walter E. Prince '04, H. Lawrence Wolfson '32, Irving H. Gamwell '96, Leonard M. Brown '30, Paul C. Richards '17, Dick Marsan '32, John E. Baldwin '32, Henry Hayes '42, Harry L. Thompson '42, Rober L. Munson '10, Edson C. Lockwood '25, Martin A. Jaffe '28, John A. Morrison '37, John W. Byam '36, R. Clinton Fuller '45, Donald H. Bucklin '43, Marshall F. Stockwell '43, Miles M. Young '38, Karnek A. Handanian '18, Leonard B. Campbell '15, Reuben R. Chase '18, Alfred E. Ascher '35, Herbert B. Lang '96, Andrew S. Thomson '98, Walter P. Gunn '15, John W. Manchester '37, Edward F. O'Connor '39, Albert D. Shaw '02, Edward C. Connor '31, Carl V. Sewall '33.

New Officers in Washington

▶ NORMAN S. CASE '08 was elected president of the Brown University Club of Washington on a new slate which took over the renaissance program there this fall. Serving with him are: A. Paul Harrison '42, vice-president; Winthrop M. Southworth, Jr., '30, secretary; and Thomas Shotton, Jr., '30, treasurer.

The Club greeted Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow on a recent visit to the city and was brought up to date on campus matters.

Some valiant bowlers are representing the club this winter in an intercollegiate league, among them: George Hurley, Jr., Southworth, Shotton, John French, John Hunt, Joe Greene, Joe Lyman, Rex Cleveland, and Russ Byles. Fourteen teams compete each Thursday night at the Lafayette alleys.

Baltimore and the Ladies

▶ THE BALTIMORE Brown Club, which continues to be one of our most active smaller groups, devoted its regular monthly dinner in January to the formulating of plans for a ladies' night. Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow was the guest of the club this fall, and the men kept him talking right up to train time. C. S. Stackpole '22 is president of the club, with Charles P. Ives '25 as an equally effective secretary.

TWO NEW PUPILS of Coach Rip Engle: the President and Secretary of the Brown Club of Hartford, Robert D. Allison '30 and Cyrus G. Flanders '18, watched the Brown football boss diagram a play at the fall meeting of their alumni club.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Texans Organize

▶ ANOTHER NEW Brown Club came into being Oct. 27 as the result of a visit to Dallas by Col. G. Edward Buxton '02, national chairman of the Housing and Development campaign. It is the Texas Brown Club and will be unusual in that its fall meeting will be held in Dallas and its spring meeting in Houston.

The first meeting was held at the home of Coburn A. Buxton '34 in Dallas, heard the latest news of Brown from the Colonel, and elected the following officers: President—Robert T. Staples '17 of Dallas; Vice-President—Kenneth Burdon '18 of Houston; Secretary—Dr. Robert M. Pike '28 of Dallas; Treasurer—Leo Horwitz '31 of Houston. Others present included Dr. Warren Andrew, who received his graduate degree in 1935, and John F. Yeilush '18. An incidental feature of the meeting was an inspection of Coburn Buxton's "Brunonia Kennels," where he is breeding fine German shepherds.

Wriston in Albany Feb. 28

▶ OFFICERS currently in charge of the Brown Club of North Eastern New York (with headquarters in Albany) are: President—Whitney E. Easton; Vice-President—Walter Stedman; Secretary—E. V. Mulleaux, Jr.; Treasurer—Harry Hastings. Executive Committee—Richard S. Walter, David Midgley, Carl Martin, J. Gordon

Baxter, Allan Rothchild, Motor C. Stewart, David W. Berst.

The club will be host to President Wriston in Albany Feb. 28, and the club, which always has a good response for its meetings, is making a special effort to bring in every Brunonian from the area.

Luncheon in Philadelphia

▶ ALUMNI RESIDENT near Philadelphia or visiting the city are reminded of the regular monthly luncheons held by the Philadelphia Brown Club on the second Tuesday of each month at the Henry Plate Restaurant (second floor), 1522 Walnut St. The meals are served at 12:30. Vice-President Bruce M. Bigelow was a December visitor who had a warm welcome.

As we went to press, word came that President Wriston will be with the club on March 25.

Kansas City Organizes

▶ NINE ALUMNI who attended a meeting Nov. 14 at the University Club there provide the nucleus of the new Brown Club of Kansas City. L. H. Denison '96, real estate broker, was elected president, while the secretary is Myron M. Curry '41 of radio station KMBC. Plans for future meetings were discussed, including one when Emery Walker, Dean of Admission, was to pay his visit to the city in December.

The initial gathering had its stimulus in a visit from Chapin S. Newhard '22 of St. Louis, member of the Brown Corporation. He provided an engaging and challenging picture of recent progress on College Hill.

Rochester Meetings

▶ ALL FRIENDS of Brown in Rochester are welcome at the monthly luncheons of the Brown Club there, which continue regularly on the first Wednesday of every month at the Chamber of Commerce. The attendance averages 15.

Malcolm C. Brown '19 is President of the Club, with Balie P. Cantrell '28 as Secretary-Treasurer. The group had a fine meeting Jan. 20 when William B. McCormick '23, Alumni Executive Officer, was the guest of honor. Robert L. Lowenthal '34 contributed to the program with films of his recent South American travels.

Merrimack Valley Club

▶ WITH THE DEATH of Joseph N. Ashton, indefatigable in the service of Brown for more than 50 years, Vice President Frederick M. Boyce of Andover has succeeded to the presidency of the Merrimack Valley Brown Club. Other officers include: Secretary-Treasurer—James S. Eastham '19; Executive Committee—Rufus E. Corlew, Haverhill; Thomas R. Hadfield, Methuen; Rev. Herman L. Noyes, Lawrence; Everett G. Perkins, Newburyport; Howard D. Smith, Chelmsford; and Paul J. Spencer, Lowell.

Brown Plays the Game ◀ ◀

Baskets Count

▶▶ BASKETBALLS have to go through hoops to win games, and the Brown varsity took its second time-out (for exams) without much to add to its single December success. The Bear defeated Worcester Tech and Tufts in January but bowed to Boston College, Harvard, Rhode Island State, Providence College, and Holy Cross. In summary, for the first semester: three victories, eight losses.

The Boston College game was of some extra interest as Brown's first "garden" venture. One reporter commended on the contest in the Hub: "Brown had one of those nights during which it would have had difficulty throwing the ball into a bathtub. The Bruins had possession a good part of the time, had more shots than the Eagles but were missing with far greater consistency than they were hitting." Actually, Brown sank only 21 of 95 tries, while Boston made good on 25 of 86. Morgenthaler of B.C., a non-midget who measures 7 feet 1 inch, used his advantage to score 29 points. Behind 34-23 at the half, Brown capitalized on its good play-making only in the last 10 minutes, when it pulled up from 57-39 to the 61-50 final score.

The next night in Cambridge, the Brunonians battled on even terms for 35 minutes but fell victims to poor foul-shooting and a spirited Harvard rally. Although Harvard won 53-40, the play was far closer, with the score tied seven times and Brown ahead six. At half-time, it was 20-17, Harvard, but the Bear in four minutes took a five-point lead and held on until five minutes from the end. With the score 43-38, the Brunonians then missed four straight foul shots, and Harvard pulled away, her second win over us this winter.

A fast second-half pace enabled Brown to trounce Worcester Tech 63-37. It was only 21-15 at the half, as shots continued

Why Flick Went Home

▶ COACH EWBANK could hardly protest when his center, Paul Flick, made a visit home to Martinsburg, W. Va., between basketball games. Paul became the father of a seven-pound boy on Jan. 11. He does not expect to bring his family to Providence until the opening of the fall term. One of Brown's best all-around athletes, he is the New England Intercollegiate discus champion and gained sectional mention as Varsity tackle during the football season.

to miss, but close guarding kept the Engineers in hand.

Rhode Island, invincible at home, administered a 96-71 spanking, but Grimshaw and Brown made them hustle in the second half with 40 points against Rhody's 44 then. The Brown captain performed brilliantly in tallying 33 points, most of them the hard way against aggressive guarding. Twenty-eight of the 33 points were from the floor. The sharpness of the Kingston boys showed in their 26 points out of a possible 31 from the foul line. Another neighborly encounter, with Providence College, resulted in an upset of Brown 68-58. Brown was ahead at 14-13, but P.C. led at the intermission 31-25. After the rest, Providence ran away to a 66-46 advantage, safe enough to ignore Brown's 12 points in the last four minutes.

In Medford, it was Brown which raced to the lead, with Grimshaw alone almost matching Tufts' 21 points at the half—he had 20 of our 49. Tufts fought back afterward and moved up to within five points. But Brown found itself again, and Grimshaw clinched matters with four baskets in a row with about a minute left. The final score, Brown 76, Tufts 63. Two alternating Holy Cross fives put on the pressure after a 32-23 half and took a 20-point margin shortly, maintaining it at the final gun when the scoreboard read: Holy Cross 69, Brown 49.

▶ THE HOLY CROSS GAME was enlivened with a fine tribute to Capt. Woody Grimshaw, who completed his college athletic career that night. The Brown Herald presented a trophy on behalf of the student body, as the Senior who has been captain three straight seasons set a new Brown scoring record at 972. The old mark was Harry Platt's who tallied 866 points in 60 games. Grimshaw, participating in 66 games in three and a half seasons under wartime eligibility, averaged 14.7 points per game, against Platt's 14.4. Paul Gleeson, Brown sports publicist, observed, "Now that pre-war rules and regulations are coming back into fashion, it is clear that Platt's mark will still be the one to shoot for over the customary three-year Varsity course. Grimshaw's new mark, a great achievement in itself, will probably remain unique as the all-time high for total Varsity play."

Grimshaw has been a good leader, with a fine fighting heart, and the gym rang for several minutes' applause as he accepted his trophy between the halves of the Holy Cross game. His name will also be on an annual trophy which his fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha, is to present to the outstanding Brown player, beginning next year.

Sharing the burden of play with their captain, the Brown line-up continued to include: the two Zubers, Flick, Corner, Schultz, Miller; and in a reserve capacity D'Angelo, Muste, Swingler, Wood, Nickel, and Tyrrell. With the start of the second semester, they will have a good newcomer in Mahoney, who has been the high scoring center on the Freshman five.

The yearlings edged the Harvard Fresh-

COACH OF THE BEARS WHO SWIM:

Joe Watmough

men at Cambridge 46-45, after an earlier victory over the Harvard Junior Varsity by a much wider margin. Patrick, a forward, shared scoring honors with Mahoney, while the other starters have usually been Sotiropoulos and Lapidis, guards, and Lane, Senior, or Tyrrell. The Freshmen beat the Holy Cross Jayvees 55-47, the Providence College Jayvees 74-44, and the Worcester Tech Jayvees 57-42, but dropped a close one to Tufts Junior Varsity 43-42.

Debut on the Track

► BROWN was represented in three track meets in two days in January, with its mile relay quartet competing in the Philadelphia Inquirer meet Jan. 24 and in the Prout Memorial games in the Boston Garden the next night, while Bill Dwyer, sprinter, was running at West Point.

The Brunonians ran their mile behind Villanova but ahead of Pennsylvania and Princeton in one of the fastest sections at Philadelphia. They were second to Harvard but ahead of Holy Cross in Boston after their sleeper-jump. The "Bible twins," Jonathan and Joshua Tobey, Henry Barksdale, and Royce Crimmins wore the Brown colors, Crimmins cutting down a margin with a great anchor lap, losing by only five yards, and leaving the Crusader far in the ruck. Crossley of Brown failed to qualify for the finals of the hurdle event. At West Point Dwyer took a third in the 80-yard low hurdles behind Halliburton of N.Y.U., and Christensen of Army. What the wire services described as "weird judging" knocked him out of the 60-yard dash finals, although he had been apparently well placed to qualify. Bennett of Brown, who twice won the ICAAA 35-pound weight-throwing crown, changed his original intention of competing and stayed home to get ready for his exams.

Dwyer is the New England Intercollegiate titleholder in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard low hurdles. Crimmins is another champion, for he was a member of the two-mile relay team which won the IC4A and National AAU titles while he was a Navy student at M.I.T. He also ran on the New England Intercollegiate championship one-mile relay team and held the New England Intercollegiate quarter-mile title.

Brunonians had a good day Jan. 11 at the NEAAU track meet in Malden, Mass. Jonathan Tobey won the open quarter in 56.4 and placed third in the half-mile (he won his section but his time was .3 seconds behind the winner's). Capt. Bob Sleichner tied for third in the high jump at 5:11, and Barksdale was third in the open 35-yard dash.

It's good to see Coach Ivan Fuqua giving his men plenty of work in anticipation of his ambitious commitments in the spring.

Even-Stephen in Swims

► WITH RALPH GOSSLER and Carl Paulson continuing to hold command in their specialties, the Brown swimmers have made a further good showing, splitting even in January for a first semester report of three wins out of five. Harvard beat us 45-30, although Gossler won both 50 and 100 free styles, while Paulson was the breaststroke victor again, and with Lee and Oxholm rounding out the quartet helped take the 400-yard relay. Paulson also had a second in the 220-yard free style, with Sobolewski runner-up in the backstroke.

The team set two new pool records in registering an easy 50-25 triumph over Coast Guard at New London. Sobolewski made his first start as a free-styler and pushed Gossler to a 60-yard race which was with 1-10th of the pool mark in winning in 29.1 seconds. Paulson furnished the competition in the 100, and this time Gossler slashed .5 second from the previous record of 53.7. The Brown free style relayers—Gossler, Paulson, Lee, and Pendleton—swam the 400 in 3:42.5, shattering a mark of 3:49.2 which had stood since 1938. Sobolewski and Capt. Holliday were one-two in the backstroke, while Breismeister, Sanford, Lee, and Pendleton also added to the point-total. Paulson remained undefeated for the season in the 200-yard breaststroke, while Gossler has won every short sprint, at 50 or 60 yards.

The promising Freshmen did their share of record-clipping, too, while losing to Harvard and beating M.I.T. Against the former, Capt. Milton Brier set a new Brown freshman mark in the 200-yard breaststroke at 2:32.9, which replaces Fred Drennan's old mark of 2:39.7 set in the same Cambridge pool in 1938. The Freshman relay team of Leeming, Griffiths, Fisher, and McKelvey also broke an old Brown first-year mark in swimming the 400 yards in 4:01.3. The medley relay also went to Welch, Brier, and McKelvey of Brown, and Fisher won the 50. Final score: Harvard Frosh 44, Brown Frosh 31.

It was that same supremacy in the relays which brought victory against the M.I.T. Freshmen, for the two teams were tied 27-27 with those events to be swum. Brier broke five records in swimming the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:05.2. Johnny Higgins, former Ohio State and Olympic star, had held the previous mark in Colgate Hoyt Pool at 1:06.2. Brier, who was National Interscholastic champion, took over the Brown Freshman and Brown Varsity pool record at 100 yards and at 50 yards. Fisher, anchor man on the two relay teams, remained undefeated in the 50-yard free-style as well.

Paulson added another championship to his collection early in January when he captured the New England Senior AAU title in the 220-yard breaststroke. Brier tagged along behind in this 2:48 event. Gossler won the open 100-yard free-style at the same meet.

The First Wrestling Bouts

► BROWN'S DECISION to re-enter the field of intercollegiate wrestling came when most 1947 schedules had been made up, but Athletic Director Paul Mackesey has been able to provide both Varsity and Freshmen with competition which will reward the men out for the squads. Harvard and M.I.T. will both come to Marvel Gym for meets with Varsity and Freshmen, the former on Feb. 19, the latter on Feb. 22. The New England intercollegiates are booked for March 14-15.

Coach Ralph Anderton has had some difficulty filling out his line-up at both ends, particularly in the heavyweight class. He had one Varsity heavyweight candidate and no Freshman, but there is plenty of strength in the middle weights. He planned to use some of his Freshmen on the Varsity since they were eligible as war veterans. The Herald noted that "despite the clamor (including its own, by the way) to bring wrestling back to Brown, the turnout has been disappointing."

► BROWN dropped five of eight bouts against Wesleyan Jan. 25 as the sport was resumed after its long lapse. Michael was a standout for Brown, in the 136-pound class, while Ferris gained a fall, too, against his 128-pound opponent. Beachen, 145 pounds, won a decision, 4 to 1. Others who started for Brown in this inaugural were Mitchell, Miller, Rivard, Heinz, and Rofman. Despite a 13-5 lead after four events, Brown lost the remaining bouts,

Riflemen Undefeated

► A SHOULDER-TO-SHOULDER match with R. I. State Jan. 8 brought the Brown NROTC rifle team its ninth straight victory in intercollegiate competition. The score: Brown 1707, R. I. 1666. Previous triumphs for the squad, coached by Staff Sgt. G. Ward Ewell, were at the expense of Penn. Penn State, Oregon State, Miami (Ohio), Marquette, Rice, Rochester, and Ohio State. Tufts was the 10th victim and Michigan the 11th.

Less successful were the Brown representatives in the New England and National Rifle Leagues. They lost to M.I.T. but defeated Mass. State.

three of them by falls. The final score: Wesleyan 23, Brown 13.

One of Coach Anderton's greatest handicaps in reviving the sports has been the absence of a single wrestler with intercollegiate experience, as might be expected. In addition, accidents apart from wrestling injuries will keep a few promising men out of action. One broke an ankle skiing, another received a back injury in a bus accident.

EDITED BY JOHN B. HARCOURT '43

Bertram S. Blaisdell, who has been clerk of the Rhode Island Supreme Court for 42 years, will retire because of ill health at the expiration of his term this February. A famous baseball player and member of Phi Beta Kappa at Brown, he entered on his career in the courts upon graduation, serving first as assistant clerk of the Sixth District Court. After two other promotions he took over his present post in 1905 and served under 10 chief justices. "His legal ability in handling briefs for lawyers who did business with his office brought praise from leading attorneys," said the Providence Journal news story, and an editorial paid him compliment. One monumental task of his was the compilation of an index to the Rhode Island General Laws. His registrant's questionnaire was adopted for national use in the draft during the first World War. His address will be 539 Potter's Ave., Providence.

George Packard sends us a new address—1245 Hillside Rd., Pasadena, Cal.

The fall issue of the Suffield Academy News pictured Jesse F. Smith receiving a pen and pencil set on his 75th birthday, which was also the date of the annual meeting of the Suffield alumni association. The presentation was part of the day's program and also recognized Mr. Smith's "efficient service to alumni" as Alumni Recorder.

Rev. Abraham LeGrand celebrated the 50th anniversary of his ordination in September, and friends and parishioners of the Washington St. Baptist Church in Orange, N. J., attended a reception in observance of the occasion. A hundred letters and telegrams from distant parts of the country also made the day a happy one; there were gifts, too, including a leather wallet. Mr. LeGrand is acting as interim pastor of the church in Orange.

George L. Miner is a vice-president and trustee of the South County Museum in Rhode Island. Other Brown men active in this interesting project are Albert E. Lownes '20, president; Henry D. Sharpe '94, trustee; and Dr. William H. Kener '96 of the advisory committee.

Charles A. Harris has completed a comprehensive history of Fairhaven, Mass., which he expects will be printed this March.

Michael is a former Hill School captain, while Ferris also won his letter in Pennsylvania at Abington High. Beachen is the son of the great Brown athlete, A. E. Beachen '14, and has his father's nickname, Sandy. The boy is a former R. I. school-boy champion from Hope High. In the same weight is another R. I. title-holder, Tony Davids, also from Hope. Bill Eastham, an Andover product, is another promising competitor.

Bilbo and the Drumhead

▶ "GIVE BILBO a fair and regular trial, and then deal with him as he deserves," urged Prof. Zechariah Chafee, Jr., '07 of the Harvard Law Faculty in a letter to the Boston Herald on Jan. 6. "The opponents of Bilbo and lynching ought not to lynch Bilbo," he added, after giving his conception of the orderly and constitutional method of procedure in regard to administering the oath to newly elected Senators.

The Herald agreed with its contributor, too. "The more emotional haters of Bilbo will regard this as legalistic hair-splitting, and much too good for the Mississippian," it said. "But in the careful observance of our democratic guarantees for even the most unworthy lies the freedom of all of us."

This work, entitled "Old Fairhaven," is based on some 21 notebooks of collected material.

BY WALTON M. SMITH '24

▶▶ AGAIN BROWN ALUMNI in the New York-New Jersey area are setting the stage for their annual dinner. This year's is the 79th and will be held on the evening of Thursday, March 20, in the Main Ballroom of the Roosevelt Hotel.

A large committee working under the direction of General Chairman Stephen I. Hall '28 has undertaken its tasks with an efficiency that is most promising.

Last year more than 500 turned out for "Brown Night In New York," the largest gathering of our alumni yet assembled in that city. They heard Dr. Wriston's announcement of Brown's expansion program and the housing and development project. Last year was one of great achievement for Brown. An ambitious and far-reaching plan was conceived and set in motion. Brown is going forward as never before. This coming year is one of the most important and most critical in Brown's history. With a sense of the responsibilities involved, the dinner committee in New York is imbued with additional determination and is exploring every resource to make this event attractive and successful.

Details regarding program arrangements will be forthcoming next month. In the meanwhile, an every-man personal canvass will go into action as Brown's largest alumni body stirs for 1947.

The committee is as follows: Stephen I. Hall '28, General Chairman. Program committee: Robert C. Litchfield '23, Chairman, C. Douglas Mercer '06, Gavin A. Pitt '38, Arthur H. Wilkinson '17, William G. Beattie '30, James Jemal '18, Charles H. Huggins '19, Joseph Francis Shea '19, Harry B. Henshel '40, Lyman G. Bloomingdale '35. Finance Committee: Russell G. Davy '33, Chairman, Clifford P. Ladd '18.

Promotion Committee: Joseph N. Micucci, Chairman, William E. Kernan '31, Joseph O'Neil '31, James I. Gorton '25, Robert M. Rutan '31. Arrangements Committee: Ralph M. Palmer '10, Chairman, Gordon A. Smith '25, Gerald L. Murphy '32, Henry E. Hallborg '07. Publicity Committee: Walton M. Smith '24, Chairman, Alden H. Norton '25, Howard F. Weeks '25. Attendance Committee: Edward Sulzberger '29, Chairman, John B. Applegate '23, Vice-Chairman.

Don Kaffenburgh is now in good hands as he is with I. Kaffenburgh & Sons, Inc., as Vice-President, at 342 Madison Ave., New York. His home address, which he prefers, is 55 East 86th St., New York 28, New York.

Pete Scott, the ebullient engineer, reports he is still attached to the U. S. Engineer Office, New England Division, this time at Park Square Building in Boston, but he is still working on Flood control. Pete, however, still refuses to leave Warren and is living at 6 Cherry St. in that town.

We heard recently from Jim Ridabock, who is a Safety-Engineer with the Car & General Insurance Corporation, 2000 West Estes Avenue, Chicago, c/o Burrows; but he would rather be addressed at A1609 Insurance Exchange Building, 17 S.W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4.

Met Walling is still roaming about the country. In November he was in Oklahoma City, speaking to the Oklahoma Automobile Dealers' Association meeting. Met is National Administrator for the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division of the U. S. Department of Labor.

A late bit of praise for Ray Owen who was made Vice-President of the Old Colony Co-operative Bank last spring. We certainly are tardy, but our best wishes go to Ray.

Hal Bauer is still located in Atlanta, Ga., with Robert & Co., Inc., architects and engineers. We presume this is the Dick Robert who has been in and out of the headlines for the last five years. Hal is living at 704 Cooledge Avenue, N.E., in Atlanta.

The exigencies of the food situation do not disturb (or do they?) Dolly Searle who is now Executive Vice-President and General Manager of the Providence Public Market Co., located, as we all know, at 380 Westminster St. Hal is living at 104 Waterview Avenue, Riverside.

It has been some time since we have heard from Bob Morris who taught at Monson for some years. He is now principal of the Sutton High School in Sutton, Mass., near Webster, and is living on Singletary Ave., Sutton. Bob reports he is Captain of the Fire Department, Deacon of the Congregational Church, a member of the Men's Club, Teachers' Club, Massachusetts Teachers' Federation and other educational pursuits. Bob's own comment—"Too many irons in the fire!"

Tom McGowan is still busy with the Wyandotte Worsted Company, where he acts as an Executive in the organization. He is living at 14 Macy Ave., White Plains, N. Y.

Want to Know About Men

▶ NOTING that most fan requests for biographical data are about male actors, Laura Lee of the Philadelphia Bulletin offered these notes recently on George Macready '21: "On the screen he's undergone a metamorphosis—from the heavy of 'Gilda' as well as other villainies, to the romantic head man in 'The Man Who Dared.' Off screen, he is interested in art, once operated an art gallery with Vincent Price. He majored in mathematics at Brown and is fascinated by detective stories."

"Macready's first professional job was a walk-on role in Gordon Craig's 'Macbeth.' After that he appeared in Katharine Cornell's 'Barretts of Wimpole Street' and 'Romeo and Juliet,' Helen Hayes' 'Victoria Regina,' and was starred in a number of less important Broadway plays, last of which was 'Jason.'" trical engineer. He can be reached at the Dodge Hotel in Washington.

Selling Shell

▶▶ "THE HEAVY-SET half-Scot with the quiet easy-going manner, who began a colorful career with Shell in 1930, is now the Manager of the National Sales Department. He's responsible for Shell's sales, and administration of policies covering them, to all national accounts and trade relations east of the Rockies."

But the author of the full-page profile on A. A. MacKille '24 in Shell Progress (which circulates among 40,000 dealers and customers) says he didn't know much about this responsible job as a youth: Halfway through high-school he added a year to his age and enlisted in the Navy in World War I. Afterward, he returned to New Haven to finish prep school at night, working days as a railroad clerk. After graduating from Brown, he was fluent enough in Spanish to become a boarding officer for the Grace Lines in Colon, Panama. Two years later, at 27, he was assistant resident manager for a major oil company in Puerto Rico and Dominican Republic. (Shell didn't mention the competitor's name.) There were roving, too, to Ecuador and Australia; marriage in New York in 1928; and two more years in the tropics. Returned to the States, MacKille moved up rapidly in the Shell organization.

If his Naval service in the first war was modest (he didn't get any farther than the 52nd St. Naval Station in New York), he made up for it this last time. As a commander with a staff of 20 specialists and key men from the petroleum industry, he had the big job of selecting and buying aviation fuel oil, gasoline, lubrication, paraffin wax, asphalt — everything petroleum — for the Navy Air Corps and the fleets. He set up the largest known petroleum-purchasing agency the world had seen, and bought all petroleum supplies for lease. His contracts were with more than 300 large and small oil companies all over the country; materials were bought from all corners of the earth. Now he's reversed all that—selling again, not buying. Very successfully, too.

The writer had plenty of material when he did his feature on "A. A. MacKille: Voyager—purchaser—salesman."

Bill Gray writes that he is manager of the St. Louis Office of the National Surety Corporation.

Eugene Hart was with the O.P.A. last fall, living at McLean Gardens, 3800 Porter St. NW. Washington, D. C.

Bradford Read is an industrial analyst for the Civilian Production Administration in Washington.

Cyril Sargent has a teaching fellowship at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

William Wagner has been transferred from Seattle to the Sausalito, Cal., headquarters of the Western Ocean Division Engineer office. Bill, who was chief of the control division, Seattle Engineer District, will serve in the same capacity for the Army Engineer office that directs military construction and supply in the Honolulu, Okinawa, and Manila Engineer Districts.

Fred L. Hansen, mechanical consultant to Brown & Sharpe of N. Y., Inc., is living at 7712 Kneeland Ave., Elmhurst, Long Island.

We learn from a note from his mother that Ezekiel Limmer is now a Captain.

Paul M. Palten writes that he is practicing law in Hartford and is living at 471 Cornwall St. in that city.

William V. Parker, New York manager for the General Display Corporation of Ohio, sends us his current address: 233 East Belder Ave., Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Dr. James H. Davis has established himself as a practicing surgeon and physician at 1078 Atlantic Ave., Long Beach 2, Calif. A graduate of Yale Medical School in 1941, he has been in Long Beach for more than a year now and is building himself a new home there. "He is one of the most enthusiastic Brown men I have ever met," writes Lawrence D. Gates '21, who adds that Davis has two splendid children, a boy and girl of five and twelve.

Herbert H. Pickard writes from Asheville, N. C., where he is resident manager for the Biltmore, N. C. plant of the Draper Corporation. His home in Asheville is at 47 Baird Street.

Garland B. Russell is back on the job as Superintendent of Schools in Dracut, Mass., after a summer on the faculty of the School of Education at the University of Maine. In addition to other duties he is giving graduate courses in public school administration and supervision at the Fitchburg Teachers College.

Herbert V. Cohen is a shoe manufacturer with the Alrose Shoe Co., Exeter, N. H. He's living on Webster Ave.

Robert T. Flynn, lawyer, is with Flynn & Leighton, 1411 Turks Head Bldg., Providence.

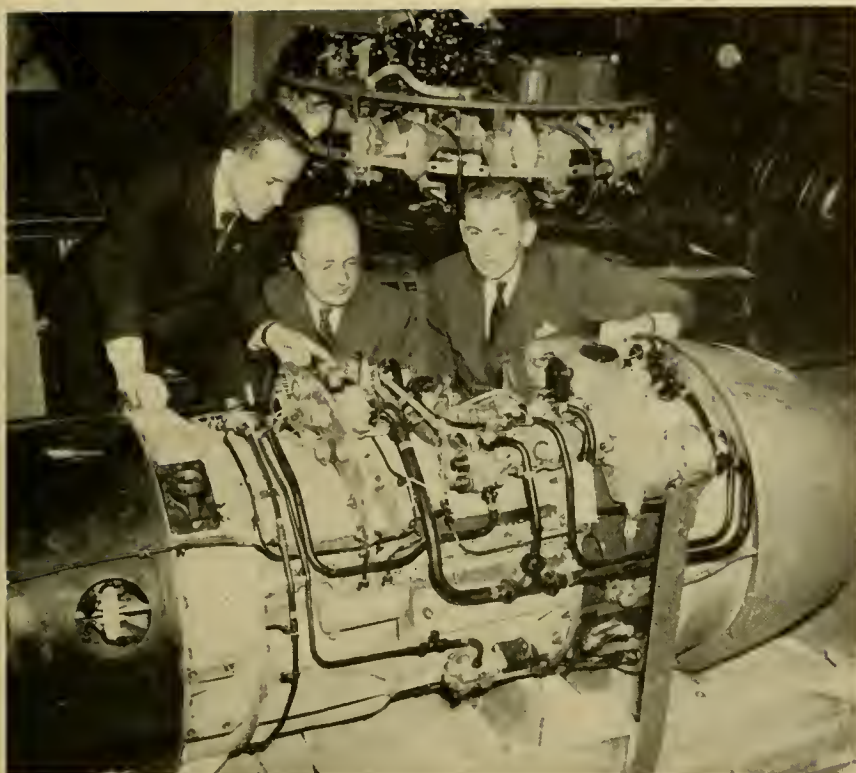

Charles K. Campbell takes a big step up in the International Business Machines organization, for which we congratulate him. He moves from managing their Providence office to become Sales Manager, Western Division. From headquarters in Chicago at 646-50 South Clark St., Chicago, he will direct IBM activity in some 30 Middle West cities. The class will miss his effective work as deputy secretary; Charley has also given up his work on the Housing Campaign. His family won't join him in Chicago until May.

Dave Allen, special agent for the Factory Insurance Association in Baltimore, sends us his home address at 303 So. Hammond's Ferry Rd., Linthicum Heights, Maryland.

Marshall Allen is patent investigator for Brown & Sharpe and is living in Providence at 212 New York Ave.

Admiration, Uncold

▶ NATHANIEL WEST '24, "whose death six years ago this month ended a brilliant writing career in films as well as in the novel," is recalled affectionately by John Sanford, a companion since kindergarten days, in the December issue of The Screen Writer. Sanford writes with embarrassment because he remembers Pep West's "agony in the presence of sentiment, his physical agony," but there was no other way to write about West the person and his literary promise but sentimentally. It was all right with us, for we don't like cold admiration, especially of a friend.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT ASKED FOR IT: One of a series of photographs taken on the Brown campus to illustrate a story on the University's pre-eminence in Higher Mathematics and the new work in Mechanics. Courtesy, as Recollected

▶ ▶ WHEN A CERTAIN letter-writer suggested to the editor of the Boston Herald that John L. Lewis should be treated with more courtesy, he drew a reply from a New Hampshire reader, identified as "C. A. Griffin, Franklin, N. H." Could it have been C. H. Griffith '08 of Littleton, N. H.?

"The plea reminds me," said Griffin, "of a song in a comic opera staged about 50 years ago by the Brown University musical clubs:

"The study of politeness is a very gentle art. It binds up broken feelings and heals the wounded heart. For instance—when an Emperor, upon his lordly head, received a pot of yellow paint, what do you think he said? He fixed the luckless painter with his basiliskian eye, and called him names to mention which I would not dare to try. He called the man orang utan, a jackass rabbit, too; a blankety-blank poll parrot and a blooming kangaroo. But—he said it so politely (politely, politely) he said it so politely that the painter stopped to hear. He called the man a lobster, a dizzy-dizzy daubster, but he said it so politely it was music to the ear."

"The chorus then went into their dance. By all means let us treat John L. with politeness, and then, willy-nilly, we will go into our dance, to his majesty's music." ◀
